ROTARY PEACE AND CONFLICT STUDIES

Applications Accepted

The Rotary Peace and Conflict Studies (RPCS) Program announces a call for applications for the July 2007 program session. The deadline for district-endorsed applications to be submitted to The Rotary Foundation for this session is December 1, 2006. The RPCS, a three-month curriculum taught at Chulalongkorn University, Thailand, aims to build conflict resolution skills for promising leaders and professionals who work in fields involving conflict resolution and mediation. The program offers an intensive curriculum developed by international and regional experts on peace and conflict studies. It is aimed at upper-level professionals in governments, non-governmental organizations, private corporations, academia, and media agencies. Participants are selected twice a year in a globally competitive selection process based on their professional and academic achievements.

Graduation Announcement

The 15 member inaugural class of RPCS participants graduated on September 29, 2006. They have all returned home and have hit the ground running. Many are already applying lessons learned during the program in their careers while becoming involved in Rotary events and promotional activities outside of their employment.

For more information, please contact Jennifer Weidman, Rotary Peace and Conflict Studies Program Specialist, at jennifer.weidman@rotary.org or 847-866-3374 with any questions or for more information.
